INTRODUCTION

Responsible gaming programs are a critical part of everyday business practices in the U.S. casino industry. The central goal of these programs is universal - to ensure that patrons safely and responsibly enjoy casino games as a form of entertainment.

The industry has in place numerous policies and initiatives to achieve this goal including support for best practices research, the development and distribution of educational materials for customers and other stakeholders, and extensive and ongoing employee training, among other things.

Responsible gaming programs operate in compliance and in parallel with state laws and regulations on responsible gaming, including the funding and provision of problem gambling services. In addition, many gaming businesses voluntarily implement programs with a range of responsible gaming measures that go beyond what is required by law or regulation.

This resource, which is a collection of the statutes and regulations addressing responsible gaming in the twenty-four states that have commercial casinos, is intended to increase interested parties' knowledge of responsible gaming policies and to elevate the public discourse around them.

The compilation and release of this publication is reflective of the industry's ongoing commitment to responsible gaming.

Viewed holistically, across the many jurisdictions in which commercial casinos now operate in the U.S., this compendium underscores the degree to which common approaches to responsible gaming have emerged across the various states. Whether driven by improved information sharing or increased knowledge based on research and real world experience, consensus is forming with respect to which policies, programs and initiatives are most effective in the area of responsible gaming.

State requirements throughout this document are organized by subject – such as self-exclusion, or credit restrictions. Each state's chapter presents the applicable law and regulation on a topic in the same sequence: constitutional provision, statutory provisions, and then administrative regulations.

It should also be noted that some states have separate regulatory provisions for different types of gaming venues (e.g., video lottery outlets, land-based casinos, water-based casinos).

As illustrated in the table overleaf, we have identified the following broad categories of state responsible gaming policy requirements:

- ◆ Required responsible gaming plan – As a condition of licensing, commercial casino states may mandate that casinos prepare and submit for approval a wide-ranging plan for addressing responsible gaming issues. Required elements of the plan often include employee training and public awareness efforts and other policies that other states have addressed specifically through stand-alone statutes or regulations that address only a single subject. For states that require an overall plan, readers should be sure to examine the specific elements that must be included in each plan.

- ◆ Patron self-exclusion program – Under this approach, patrons may authorize a casino to refuse to allow them to gamble there, and to expel them if they are found gambling on the premises. State statutes may vary in the length of the self-exclusion available and in the procedures for reversing self-exclusion. Some state laws specify that the casino must also eliminate direct promotional outreach to these individuals, and also must exclude them from complimentary services or access to credit.
- ◆ Restrictions on alcoholic beverages -- States may require casinos to limit alcoholic beverage service on the gaming floor, or to limit access to gambling services for patrons who are visibly intoxicated.
- ◆ Employee training -- States may specify that casino employees who work on the gaming floor should receive training on disordered and problem gambling; some states require the training to include instruction on the complex question of how to identify problem gamblers on the gaming floor.
- ◆ Treatment and research funding – States have announced commitments to support treatment for problem gamblers, education services concerning disordered or problem gambling, and research related to problem gambling. Most of those states earmark certain state revenues from gaming for these programs.
- ◆ Property signage -- States may require that casinos post signs and offer brochures identifying the risks of problem and disordered gambling, and disclosing toll-free phone numbers and other resources for counseling and assistance.
- ◆ Advertising disclosures -- States may require that casino advertising (in print, on billboards, or on electronic media) include a responsible gaming message, including a toll-free helpline number.
- ◆ Credit restrictions -- By banning casinos from offering credit advances to patrons, certain state laws aim to deter patrons from betting more than they can afford to lose. For the same reason, states may block or limit the use of credit or debit cards to secure cash on the gaming floor.
- ◆ Restrictions on financial instruments -- States may specify that casinos may not accept government-issued checks or stored-value cards that represent public benefits, or ATM transactions or credit or debit cards; New York also bans acceptance of paychecks and public benefit checks.
- ◆ Other -- Three states require that their gaming regulators create a statewide responsible gaming program (Kansas, Maryland, Pennsylvania). Colorado imposes a limit on the maximum bet that may be placed, while Louisiana requires responsible gambling education in its schools. Massachusetts requires that licensees provide space on the casino floor for the dissemination of responsible gaming information to patrons.

¹Although the AGA strives to address the totality of the U.S. gaming industry, currently this resource only covers commercial state requirements due to the complexity and volume of Tribal State gaming compacts. However, further information regarding the applicable responsible gaming requirements for Tribal casino operations can be found in the AGA's 'By the Book' online resource, which is available at GetToKnowGaming.org. Finally, this publication does not endeavor to detail responsible gaming measures in legalized Internet gaming markets in the U.S. Special note: This publication details regulations and statutes that are relevant to responsible gaming. We have not included the entire provisions of some statutes and regulations, rather, we have only included the relevant provisions pertaining to responsible gaming.

- (c) Nothing in this rule shall prohibit anyone on the voluntary exclusion list from accessing the gaming areas of a casino for the purpose of carrying out the duties of their employment. An individual who is on the voluntary exclusion list who is hired by a casino must notify the commission office in Indianapolis prior to starting the job. The individual must provide the following information:

The request may be made only by the individual and not by any other person. An individual must not be under the influence of alcohol or drugs at the time he or she makes a request for placement on the voluntary exclusion list.
- (c) Any person requesting placement on the voluntary exclusion list must submit a completed request for voluntary exclusion as outlined in subsection (d). The individual must appear in person at a commission office or another location designated by the executive director to complete the request for voluntary exclusion. Commission offices are located on the property of each casino in addition to an office located in Indianapolis.
- (d) A request for voluntary exclusion must be on a form prescribed by the commission.
- (e) The personal information of a person who participates in the voluntary exclusion program is confidential. An individual who elects to participate in the program must agree that in order to enforce the VEP, casinos must have access to the individual's personal information. Before placement on the voluntary exclusion list, an individual shall authorize the commission staff to provide any identifying information contained in the person's request for exclusion to the casinos to be able to enforce the exclusion.

- (f) A voluntarily excluded individual shall have the following ongoing obligations regarding the voluntary exclusion list:
 - (1) Refrain from entering the gaming areas of riverboats and other facilities under the jurisdiction of the commission until such time as a request for removal has been processed by the commission.
 - (2) Each time the personal information of a voluntarily excluded individual changes, he or she must provide the commission with the updated information.

The forfeited jackpots or items will be withheld by the casino licensee and remitted to the commission. Voluntarily excluded individuals may appeal a forfeiture under this rule by following the procedures outlined in 68 IAC 7.

- (h) Voluntarily excluded individuals agree to forfeit all points or complimentaries earned by the individual on or before the individual completes his or her request for placement on the voluntary exclusion list. To the extent that complimentaries or points described above may be redeemed for cash under the casino licensee's marketing program, the individual shall be entitled to receive that amount.

- (i) Nothing in this rule shall prohibit a casino licensee from alerting local law enforcement authorities of a voluntarily excluded person's presence in a facility under the jurisdiction of the commission to effect an arrest for trespassing.

The plan must allow, to a reasonable extent, appropriate employees of a riverboat licensee or operating agent to identify a voluntarily excluded person when that person is present in a casino or other facility under the jurisdiction of the commission. Such information shall not be released to casinos in other jurisdictions. However, nothing in this rule shall prohibit a riverboat licensee or operating agent from effectuating the eviction of a voluntarily excluded person from other properties within their corporate structure so that the person will be denied gaming privileges at casinos under the same parent company in other jurisdictions.
 - (2) Provide a process whereby enforcement agents and security and surveillance are notified immediately when a voluntarily excluded person is detected in the gaming area of a casino.
 - (3) Refuse wagers from and deny gaming privileges to any voluntarily excluded person.
 - (4) Make all reasonable attempts to ensure that voluntarily excluded persons do not receive direct marketing. A casino licensee will satisfy this requirement if the casino licensee removes the individual's name from the list of patrons to whom direct marketing materials are sent, and the individual does not receive direct marketing materials more than forty-five (45) days after the casino licensee receives notice, under section 3(a) of this rule, that voluntarily excluded individual has entered the VEP.
 - (5) Ensure that voluntarily excluded persons do not receive check cashing privileges or extensions of credit, whether directly through the casino licensee or operating agent, or through a supplier contracting with a casino licensee on property hired for the purpose of check cashing or extension of credit, or both.
- (c) Nothing in this rule shall prohibit a casino licensee from seeking payment of a debt from a voluntarily excluded person if the debt was accrued by a person before his or her name was placed on the voluntary exclusion list.

- (d) A casino licensee shall post signs at the turnstiles marking the entrance to the gaming area that will inform and educate patrons about the voluntary exclusion program. The text that will appear on the signs must be submitted to the commission staff for approval before posting.
- (e) A casino licensee shall be subject to disciplinary action under 68 IAC 13 for failure to comply with the requirements of this section and the internal control procedures outlined pursuant to this section, including, but not limited to, the following:

- (e) The commission shall notify each casino licensee each time an individual is removed from the VEP. Once an individual's name has been removed from the voluntary exclusion list, nothing in this rule shall prohibit a casino licensee from:
 - (1) Marketing directly to that individual;
 - (2) Cashing checks of such a person; or
 - (3) Extending credit to the individual.
