

WHAT IS THE AGA PAC?

Congressional champion development is one of the American Gaming Association's (AGA) top priorities. An industry as diverse as ours – nearly 1,000 properties, across 43 states, supporting 1.8 million American jobs – deserves an equally diverse group of elected proponents who will protect and promote casino gaming and its immense contributions to communities nationwide.

What does the AGA PAC do?

AGA's political action committee ("AGA PAC") supports federal candidates with a vital role in our industry's future. A strong PAC empowers AGA to broaden its reach in Washington, share the industry's positive message and help elect pro-gaming lawmakers to Congress.

How does the AGA PAC choose which public officials to support?

The funds raised for AGA PAC are strategically used to support federal candidates who understand and play an active role advancing AGA's policy goals. AGA PAC is non-partisan and evaluates candidates and incumbents on their individual merits. Our strategic plan focuses on:

- Federal lawmakers from gaming states who work to promote the industry's agenda.
- Senate and House leadership positions.
- Key committee chairs and members with jurisdiction over gaming issues.
- U.S. Senate: Commerce; Judiciary; Banking; Finance; Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.
- U.S. House: Energy and Commerce; Judiciary; Financial Services; Ways and Means; Education and Labor.

How you can support the AGA PAC

Members of the AGA CEO Roundtable and Board of Directors are strongly encouraged to support the AGA PAC. (Each CEO and Board member must complete an AGA Individual Member and prior approval form for solicitation purposes.) In addition to industry contributions, AGA staff often contribute in excess of 25% of all PAC funds raised.
